

Thank you for your interest in participating in Publix Super Markets' construction program.

The majority of our Publix stores are constructed within shopping centers owned by third-party developers. These developers competitively bid construction of our stores to General Contractors who have been pre-approved by Publix.

Although Publix already has many pre-approved contractors within our established markets, there are occasional opportunities for contractors to be added to the approved contractor list. If approved, you will then be eligible for inclusion should a developer wish to have you bid on a project.

If you would like to be considered as a prospective approved contractor, please complete the following preliminary application and email it to GCapplication@publix.com

We are especially looking for contractors with extensive experience building new grocery stores in the Southeast. If your company meets the preliminary requirements, you may be invited to further engage in the contractor qualification process. If Publix does not currently have a need in your service area, we will retain your preliminary application for future consideration.

Thank you again for your interest.

Sincerely,

Mikhael H. Ser, P.E.
Director of Construction
Publix Super Markets, Inc.
